

Doriki Green Walnut Reserve placed among the top liqueurs in the world

In its first appearance in a competition, Doriki Green Walnut Reserve liqueur of Stelios Kechris Domaine family winery-distillery was awarded a Gold Outstanding medal at the International Wine & Spirits Competition. In one of the most rigorous international wine contests, in which samples are judged in two rounds of blind tastings, Green Walnut Reserve liqueur was 1 out of the 6 products that were awarded such a high distinction among the 173 liqueurs from all over the world that won a medal.

Green Walnut reserve, like the other two Doriki liqueurs, is produced by the traditional method. Thanks to the meticulous care that only a micro-distillery can provide to a premium raw material and the strict controls of a modern business, Green Walnut Reserve is the extract of all the lively character and the complex aromas of a green walnut freshly cut from the tree. Without the use of color or flavor additives, the final character of this natural liqueur is shaped after having matured for two years in French oak barrels. Big, but at the same time elegant and balanced, Green Walnut Reserve combines the aromas of the fresh walnut with notes of coffee and tobacco, while its discreet bitter taste, perfectly balanced by the sweetness, is followed by a long lasting aromatic length.
